

1. What is the range of absolute magnitude shown on the diagram? Do the brightest stars have the highest or lowest numbers?
2. Where does the sun appear on the diagram?
3. Compare Vega with Betelgeuse. Which star is hotter? Which star has a higher absolute magnitude? What else would you need to know to determine which star would appear brighter to us on Earth?